

He's the Man

This is sung by Percy - Winston's Personal Aide. He and Clemmie are having a bit of fun at Winston's expense having just heard that Winston has been made First Lord of the Admiralty.

He's the man, the man of the moment
He's going far, all the way to the top
Now his foot is firmly on the ladder
He will never stop

Yes, he's the man, who's going places
He's the man, who knows his aces
Got his day now he'll have his way
Oh yes he's the man

*He's the man who'll get the job done, never throw in the towel
The man who'll launch a thousand ships, with his bulldog scowl*

He's the man the one to do it
Got his eyes so full of stars
We'd better keep him well supplied
With his brandy and cigars

Instrumental

The man who'll stop them on the beaches
By giving one of his long speeches
He can do it if anybody can
Oh yes, he's the man

*He's the man who'll do what he has to, a man of great renown
History will be kind to him, 'cos he's gonna write it down.*

The man who'll stop them on the beaches
By giving one of his long speeches
He can do it if anybody can
Oh yes, he's the man
