

When you come home to me

This is sung by Clemmie. She is writing Winston a letter as he is abroad yet again, and she sings as she writes.

I'm going to wrap my arms around you, and hold you very near Run my fingers through your hair, and whisper in your ear
I'm going to tell you that I love you, and kiss you tenderly
I'll give you everything you need
When you come home to me

The feeling's still growing strong, and I want you to know
I reach out to touch you, though I'm here all alone
I'm living on memories, it's easy to see
Why I'm counting the days and nights
Till you come home to me

*When you come home, when you come home
When you come home to me*

There's one thing for certain, if it's hard being apart
It's harder not giving, when you know in your heart
What the meaning of love is, and why it's meant to be I'll be saving all my love - for
When you come home to me

*When you come home, when you come home
When you come home to me*
